Dear _____,

My office represents Kensington Financial Services, Inc.; a Pennsylvania Corporation located in Lower Burrell, Pennsylvania. Recently a collection company in New Jersey, A.C.A. Recovery, Inc. has been acting as a collection agent for a company called "Kensington Financial". My client is not associated with or affiliated with this "Kensington Financial" which has been responsible for these collection letters. My client, Kensington Financial Services, Inc. is a financial planning consultant.

The company initiating these collection letters thru the collection agency is involved in the business securing or applying for student grant packages. To aid you in resolving this matter please call the collection agency, A.C.A. Recovery at the number appearing on the letter mailed to you.

This should help you resolve the problem and eliminate the confusion with my client, Kensington Financial Services, Inc. which is not seeking to collect any debt. I sincerely hope this is helpful to you because the fine people at Kensington Financial Services, Inc. do not conduct business in this manner.

Very Truly Yours,

Charles E. Weston
